Disclaimer

The findings, conclusions and interpretations within the Responsible Mining Foundation 2021 report ‘Harmful Impacts of Mining: When extraction harms people, environments and economies’ do not necessarily represent the views of funders, trustees, and employees of the Responsible Mining Foundation (RMF), and others who participated in consultations and as advisors to the report.

This report is intended to be for information purposes only and is not intended as promotional material in any respect. The report is not intended to provide accounting, legal, tax or investment advice or recommendations, neither is it intended as an offer or solicitation for the purchase or sale of any financial instrument. The study should not be used as a comparative assessment of company performances in preventing harmful impacts. The study does not attempt to attribute or attribute culpability to the companies involved in these impacts.

The study results are based only on evidence sourced from the public domain, reported by the companies in the study sample or by other sources. Whilst this information is believed to be reliable, no guarantee can be given that it is accurate or complete. Likewise, the study did not engage with civil society or other stakeholders to seek further information.

In the same way, the RMI Report 2020 results shown in this report are also based only on evidence sourced from the public domain or provided by companies as open data. Again, whilst this information is believed to be reliable, no guarantee can be given that it is accurate or complete. The study was entirely desk-based and companies were not consulted or invited to comment on the incidents included.

Although every effort has been made to verify the accuracy of translations, the English language version should be taken as the definitive version.
